

Internship Program for Trainee Customer Support Engineer

GP Asia shall offer the following internship program to you for a period of three (3) months.

Training Program

The scope of the training program is as follow:

- Attend a NCR ATM/CDM technical workshop for up to three (3) weeks.
- Attend ATM/CDM staging and installation trainings either at warehouse or onsite for up to two (2) months.
- Shadow experienced customer support engineer out in the field for onsite trainings.
- Learn soft-skills training (e.g. communication, handling difficult customers, handling stress) for up to one (1) week.
- Learn telecommunication and conversation skill throughout the internship program.
- Attend onsite training on Communication Devices (Routers) , PC and server (this is an optional training program).

In most cases, full time employment will be offered to the successful candidates upon the completion of the Internship program, therefore preference will be given to final year students who have recently completed their final year and waiting for the next graduation or convocation. We prefer continuity upon the internship program with an conditioned offer to join upon completion of the internship and subject to the candidates obtaining a satisfactory results upon their graduation.

GP Asia reserves the right to terminate the internship program anytime should we find the candidate not meeting the necessary requirements

To apply, click here: www.gpasia.net